Expository Writing: Hit the Lights!

Expository writing presents, describes, and explains facts, ideas, and concepts.

It can be very easy to waste energy. But it can be just as simple to conserve energy.

Before you begin writing, think about all the things that use electricity in your school and at home.

Now, write a paragraph to tell how energy could be conserved at both school and home.

Hit the Lights!

There are many ways to conserve energy at school and at home. Saving electricity is one of the best ways.
