

What did the Pilgrims learn from Squanto?

Squanto showed the Pilgrims where the fish swam, and how to catch them. He showed them where to hunt deer, turkey, and other animals.

He showed them where the wild plants and herbs grew—and how to use herbs to make their food taste better.

He told them when to plant corn.

He showed them how to plant their kernels of corn in little hills, along with three fish in each hill to make the corn grow better.
